Satanism

Satanism is real, the worship of Satan is real, human sacrifices are real, and following with the Devil's biggest secret, he convinces most people the contrary. Satanists, like occultists and the Illuminati, believe the serpent brought wisdom at the Fall of Man, and they themselves are gods. Satanism is found in various degrees and forms. From silly and superficial, to pure evil of unimaginable proportions, all of which lead to the heart of the New World Order.

Although we have a good idea who and what Satan is, it is useful in clearly describing Satan's evil forces and their emergence across cultures throughout history. Also by understanding the history of Satanic philosophies we can identify them much easier in society today. In Hebrew, Satan means adversary or accuser, and is an angel, demon, or minor god in many religions. In the Old Testament, Satan is described as an angel that disobeyed God, was cast out of Heaven, and is the enemy of God. Satan is generally viewed as a supernatural entity who is the central embodiment of evil. Satan is also commonly known as the Devil, the Prince of Darkness, Father of Lies, Beelzebub, or Lucifer. Lucifer is a Latin word derived from two other words, lux (light) and ferre (to bear, to bring) meaning light-bearer.

Lucifer does not appear in Greek or Roman mythology, rather it is a name adapted and used by poets to represent the Morning Star at moments when "Venus" would intrude distracting imagery of the goddess. The word Lucifer is translated to mean, "morning star" or "bringer of the Dawn" a phrase in Isaiah that originally intended no reference to Satan. Never the less, in Christianity, Lucifer came to be seen synonymous with Satan and having been second in command to God himself, he was the highest archangel in heaven, but he was motivated by pride and greed to rebel against God and then cast out of heaven with one third of the angels who followed him. the Devil became popular, and the angels who followed him are now demons. Modern astrologers say that the planet Venus was known as Lucifer in Roman Astrology.

In Islam, Satan is known as Iblis, who was a kind of angel until he disobeyed Allah (name given to god in Islam) by refusing to bow down to Adam because he refused to accept Man as being superior. Islam describes Satan as an entity of fire called a Jinn.

The Satanic Bible

The Satanic Bible was written by Anton LaVey and published in 1969, and is still widely available today. The book's cover is black with a red pentagram. LaVey also founded the Church of Satan in 1966. Philosophically, the modern Satanic views within the book could be described as being influenced by the writings of Alester Crowley, and a few other prominent occultists and Satanists. "Satan" is used as a positive symbol of thier worldview, and is not considered to exist in a literal fashion. Theologically, each individual Satanist is viewed as his or her own god, as is found in the other ancient mystery religions. The rituals explained are essentially magick in the original sense written by Crowley, and are intended to further the Satanist's ends, and "power."

Since many people have not heard of such a "bible," never the less actually seen one, several quotes from the blasphemous book follow to give the reader an idea of LaVey's Satanic philosophy.

"Just as the Satanist does not pray to God for assistance, he does not pray for forgiveness for his wrong doings." p. 41

"Satanism advocates indulging in each of these "sins" as they all lead to physical, mental, or emotional gratification." p. 46

"It has become necessary for a NEW religion, bases on man's natural instincts, to come forth." p. 48

"Satanism advocates practicing a modified form of the Golden Rule. Our interpretation of this rule is: Do unto others as they do unto you." p. 51

"Satanism is not a white light religion, it is a religion of the flesh, the mundane, the carnal-all of which are ruled by Satan, the personification of the Left Hand Path." p. 52

"The Satanic Age is upon us!" p. 63

"The Candles used in Satanic ritual represent the light of Lucifer-the bearer of light, enlightenment, the living flame, burning desire, and the Flames of the pit." p. 136

"In Satanic ritual the chalice or goblet used represents the Chalice of Ecstasy." p. 137

"The Sword of Power is symbolic of aggressive force, and acts as an extension and intensifier of the arm with which the priest uses to gesture and point." p. 138

(1969). Its current central office is located in New York. Current High Priest is Peter H. Gillmore. The Church of Satan promotes claims that every individual can be their own god and is responsible for their own destiny. Satan is used as a symbol and metaphor rather than the name of the actual anthropomorphic deity, following in line with the philosophies of the Satanic Bible.

Unlike ordinary Churches, the Church of Satan does not have tax-exempt status. As part of what it refers to as Pentagonal Revisionism, the Church is actively working to tax of all Churches as it follows its Luciferian agenda of committing blasphemy against the body of Christ.

Anton Szandor LaVey (April 11 1930 - October 29-1997) born Howard Stanton Levey, was instrumental in modernizing Satanism and bringing it public in the 1960s. LaVey was born in Chicago, Illinois, but spent most of his life in San Francisco. On April 30, 1966 he supposedly ritualistically shaved his head and founded the Church of Satan. LaVey remained High Priest until his death in 1997. He is survived by his consort, son, exe-wife, 2 daughters, and a grandson.

The 9 Satanic Statements

- 1) Satan represents indulgence, instead of abstinence!
- 2) Satan represents vital existence, instead of spiritual pipe dreams!
- 3) Satan represents undefiled wisdom, instead of hypocritical self-deceit!
- 4) Satan represents kindness to those who deserve it, instead of love wasted on ingrates!
- 5) Satan represents vengeance, instead of turning the other cheek!
- 6) Satan represents responsibility to the responsible, instead of concern for psychic vampires!
- 7) Satan represents man as just another animal, sometimes better, more often worse than those that walk on all-fours, who because of his" Devine spiritual and intellectual development," has become the most vicious animal of all!
- 8) Satan represents all of the so-called sins, as they all lead to physical, mental, or emotional gratification!
- 9) Satan has been the best friend the church has ever had, as he has kept it in business all these years!

Temple of Set

Michael A. Aquino is the founder of another Satanic Church named the Temple of Set. (Set being the Egyptian god of the underworld) Aquino was originally a high ranking member of LaVey's Church of Satan, and friend of Anton. Aquino served as the High Priest of the Temple of Set until he retired the position in 1996, which is now held by Don Webb.

The Temple of Set was founded in 1975 by Michael Aquino and a group of other members of the Church of Satan who left that organization because of disagreements with its philosophy and administration. Aquino and his follows apparently believed that LaVey and the Church of Satan were too commercial and not a serious enough Satanic organization. LaVey was essentially accused of operating the Church of Satan merely for profit. In his book, The Book of Coming Forth by Night (1985) Aquino describes what seems to be a call to start his cult and speaks in the first person as Set, the Egyptian Satan. The Temple of Set considers itself a real religion, and unlike the Church of Satan is incorporated in, and recognized as a religion by the state of California and the federal government. The Temple of Set's official website is Xeper.org (An Egyptian word, roughly translated as "self-improvement" or "self-creation") And their symbol is an upside down pentagram.

In 1981, Major Michael A. Aquino collaborated with Colonel Paul E. Vallely and produced a paper titled From PSYOP to MindWar: The Psychology of Victory. The paper was submitted to Military Review and Parameter, the publication of the U.S. Army War College. The paper describes how psychological warfare could and should be used against the American people, saying, "MindWar should take full advantage of such phenomena as atmospheric electromagnetic activity, air ionization, and extremely low frequency waves." (Aquino, Michael - From PSYOP to MindWar p. 9-10) (See Mind Control)

While on a NATO tour of Europe in 1982 he performed a Satanic ritual in the Westphalian castle which Heinrich Himmler's elite SS used for the same reason, an incident that apparently went unquestioned by others in the force, including his superiors. Asside frem being a Green Baret, and reportedly having high Pentagon clearance, Aquino worked at a childrens daycare center on an army base near Presidio, California in the 1980s.

Aquino, his wife, and another were accused of ritual child sexual abuse involving that daycare center. No charges were filed against Aquino, although he was titled by the army. Controversy still surrounds the allegations. Prosecutor Susan Gray had been able to get a grand jury to charge Gary Hambright, a worker at the daycare center, with molesting only one child. Three months after Hambright's arrest the charges were dismissed. U.S. District Court Judge William Schwarzer refused to allow the admission of so-called hearsay statements, and ruled that the children would not serve as competent witnesses because of their age.

A child that identified Gary Hambright from a photo line up said she was driven to a house with black walls and abused by three individuals, believed to be Michael Aquino "Mickey," Gary Hambright "Mr. Gary," and "Shamby," Lilith Aquino, Michael's wife.# The home the child identified was Aquinos', and she also accurately described the black walls inside. On August 14, 1987 the FBI and the San Francisco Police served a search warrant and seized videotapes, 29 photos, and two plastic gloves from the kitchen. (Case #870910025, 8114/87)

At 4:45 on September 22 1987 a call came into the Presidio Fire Department with news of a fire at the day care center. Much of the center and some of its records were destroyed. A faulty wire outlet was originally blamed as the cause. On September 30, 1987, eight days after the fire, and six months after the original charges were dropped against Gary Hambright, he was reindicted on molestation charges involving 10 children. Three weeks later another fire struck the day care center. Then, in February all charges were dropped by Judge Schwarzer for being too vague. In all, more than 60 children came forward with allegations of abuse.

The second fire at the daycare center was reported at 4:30 am and caused damage to a building containing several classrooms, including Hambright's. ATF and the Army then concluded both fires were arson.

A concrete bunker located behind the Military Intelligence building at the Presidio was found to be turned into some kind of a ritual chamber. On the front wall beneath the window that faced the Military Intelligence building was a huge pentagram inside a circle. Inside the bunker were occult drawings, the number 666, black candles, and burnt logs. No further information is known about this bunker, or its current status. At first glance one may dismiss the drawings as graffiti, but upon realizing the numerous allegations that surfaced, and the individuals named in those instances, a more sinister picture begins to emerge.

Aquino has been named by numerous witnesses and investigators as allegedly playing a key role in Project Monarch experiments on children, and specifically in the kidnapping of the Iowa paperboy Johnny Gosch. Ted Gunderson, former Senior Special Agent-in-Charge of the Los Angeles FBI wrote, "Bonacci told Noreen Gosch that 14 days after Johnny was kidnapped, known Satanist Colonel Michael Aquino came to the house outside of Sioux City Iowa, where Johnny had been kept since the kidnapping. Michael Aquino, then a Colonel in the Army, paid several thousand dollars to the kidnapers, took Johnny and left for Colorado with him."

Gunderson goes on to say, "In March of 1997, when Johnny Gosch came to his mother's home in the middle of the night, he told his mother about his abduction and named Colonel Michael Aquino as a central perpetrator. Aquino was then an officer in the military reputedly in charge of 'Operation Mind War' for the U.S. government. 'Operation Mind War' was a sub-project of 'Project MK-Ultra' which grew out of 'Operation Paperclip'. 'Operation Paperclip' was a covert operation in which large numbers of Nazi scientists were brought to the United States from the Nazi death camps of World War II to learn from their techniques of torture, drugs, hypnosis, mind control, and genetic experimentation for covert operations."# (See Mind Control)

During this meeting, Johnny asked her not to mention anything about their conversation or him being alive, because it would put his life and others at risk. He apparently was trying to create a plan so he could expose what had happened to him and others. Noreen Gosch (Johnny's mother) kept this meeting to herself until March 1999 when she appeared in court to testify for Paul Bonnaci, a victim of Larry King. (Lawrence E. King, no relation of CNN's King) Noreen, while on the witness stand was asked by John DeCamp, Paul Bonacci's attorney, if she had ever seen or talked to her son in all the years he had been missing, and being under oath at the time, she answered with the truth, that in fact she had. Some people believed her and others made ad-homonym attacks saying she was either a liar or crazy. This revelation led to another appearance on Inside Edition and other network TV shows bringing more publicity to the case once again. A bizarre turn of events would lead to MSNBC running a piece in April 2005 on speculation that phony Whitehouse reporter Jeff Gannon/Jeff Guckert may be Johnny Gosch.

Aquino declined a request for an interview by this author (John Conner) with the following email.

Dear Mr. Conner,

Please accept my apologies that I have declined all interview requests since I retired from the High Priesthood of the Temple of Set in 1996.

Nor have I been a Satanist since 1975. However you are welcome to download a copy of my _Church of Satan_ ebook, which covers its 1966-75 history, from:

Sincerely, Michael A. Aquino

Equally bizarre, Rusty Nelson, [Rusell Full Name] the photographer of pedophile Larry (Lawrence E.) King alleges that Hunter S. Thompson (Fear and Loathing in Las Vegas) offered him $100,000 in 1988 to produce a snuff film involving a child. Rusty said he turned the offer down.# Interestingly, Hunter S. Thompson wrote in Fear and Loathing in Las Vegas about receiving Adrenochrome from a Satanist. Adrenochrome allegedly is a material that is now synthesized in a lab, but originally believed to have been obtained from human sacrifices.

Paul Bonnacci described in his journal picking up a "Hunter Thompson" in Las Vegas who was the individual Bonnacci described as the photographer for the snuff film he witnessed in Bohemian Grove.# (See Bohemian Grove)

Hunter S. Thompson committed suicide just days after "Jeff Gannon" (James D. Guckart), the phony reporter was exposed, some believe because Thompson thought the pedophilia ring involving the Franklin Cover Up and Bohemian Grove would be exposed, and that he would be implicated with his alleged participation in these activities. Nelson was arrested two days after Thompson's death for not re-registering as a sex offender when he changed addresses which is required by law. Gannon/Guckart was allegedly found to operate a gay escort service and featured nude photos of himself on his website.# It is believed "Gannon" was working under Operation Mocking Bird, a CIA program to control the media through the front Talon news. (See Mind Control) At the time this book went to print, key pieces of information regarding Jeff Gannon, his connections with the Bush administration, why no investigations were launched into his alleged prostitution activities, and what else this man has been involved in, or knows about have not yet been made public. At the time this book went to print, many people, including Ted Gunderson, and James Rothstein (former NYPD Detective) have been speculating as to if this individual is Johnny Gosch. # MSNBC even did a segment on the show Dietl and Daniels featuring Noreen regarding these allegations. #

Adding, yet again, another twist to the story is that fact that Hunter S. Thompson wrote in his 2004 book titled Hey Rube in the first article titled The New Dumb, "The autumn months are never a calm time in America...There is always a rash of kidnapping and abductions of schoolchildren in the football months. Preteens of both sexes are traditionally seized and grabbed off the streets by gangs of organized perverts who traditionally give them as Christmas gifts to each other to be personal sex slaves and playthings."

This writing clearly shows Thompson knows something not many people know. That each year children are kidnapped by organized kidnapping rings and sold as sex slaves. Thompson was known for getting involved in his stories as was the case when he lived with the Hells Angels for nearly two years in the 1960s where he chronicled his activities in his book Hells Angels: A Strange and Terrible Saga. With Paul Bonacci's testimony, and Rusty Nelson's allegations of being propositioned to shoot a snuff film, some are lead to believe he was involved in even more sinister activities than hanging out with a motorcycle gang. He named his estate "Owl Farm," some believe as a reference to Bohemian Grove adding to the suspicions.

Thomson's former editorial assistant, Nickole Brown, wrote in an article titled In Memory of Hunter S. Thompson: Postcard from Louisville, Kentucky (posted 4-15-05) about some of his bizarre behavior she had witnessed while working for him. "For weeks he played a tape recording of a jack rabbit screaming in a trap." [audio tape] She also wrote, "...he threw me out of the house for refusing to watch a snuff film." As she left, he allegedly called her a coward and was mad. Brown thought he was possibly joking, and didn't think much of it, citing his unique character. After an interview on May 20, 2005 by this author (John Conner), Nickole Brown said despite rumors, he never threatened her, or felt in danger while she worked for him as his editorial assistant, and she couldn't imagine him being involved in such things as the allegations from Bonnaci, Nelson, and others. She and others believe Hunter was possibly investigating such claims, which they site as the source of such allegations. Shortly before his death, Thompson was speaking about motives behind the September 11th attacks and alluded to a cover up or conspiracy. (See September 11th Inside Job)

Aleister Crowley

Aleister Crowley is an infamous Satanist and Freemason who's writings continue to inspire occultists and Satanists around the world. He considered himself to be a black magician of sorts and his motto was, "Do what thou wilt, shall be the whole of the law." He began many of his writings and letters with this phrase, which meant do whatever you want, is if there are no consequences. Aleister died on December 1st 1947.

The Beatles album Sergeant Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band in 1967 featured Crowley's picture on the cover, and Ozzy Osborn "the Prince of Darkness" made reference to Mr. Crowley in the song of the same name. Many unfamiliar with the activities and writings of Crowley have no idea what the song is about. Some lyrics are as follows.

Mr. Crowley, what went on in your head
Mr. Crowley, did you talk with the dead
Your life style to me seemed so tragic
With the thrill of it all
You fooled all the people with magic
You waited on Satan's call

Mr. Charming, did you think you were pure
Mr. Alarming, in nocturnal rapport
Uncovering things that were sacred manifest on this Earth
Conceived in the eye of a secret
And they scattered the afterbirth

Crowley was heavily involved in Freemasonry and was a 33rd degree Sovereign Grand Inspector General of the Scottish Rite, as he bragged in his autobiography. (See Freemasonry) While climbing up the Masonic ladder of success, Crowley had been given the title by the media of "the wickedest man alive", and called himself "the beast." It has been documented that Crowley practiced drug induced rituals that included perverted sex acts including, homosexuality, bestiality, and eating human waste.

The most shocking fact about Crowley are his beliefs in the book, Magick in Theory and Practice, where he gives instructions on animal and human sacrifices, writing:

"But the bloody sacrifice, though more dangerous, is more efficacious; and for nearly all purposes human sacrifice is the best. The animal should therefore be killed within the Circle, or the Triangle, as the case may be, so that its energy cannot escape. An animal should be selected whose nature accords with that of the ceremony--thus, by sacrificing a female lamb one would not obtain any appreciate quantity of the fierce energy useful to a Magician who was invoking Mars. In such case a ram would be more suitable. And this ram should be virgin--the whole potential of its original total energy should not have been diminished in any way. For the highest spiritual working one must accordingly choose that victim which contains the greatest and purest force. A male child of perfect innocence and high intelligence is the most satisfactory and suitable victim." (Aleister Crowley - Magick: In Theory and Practice)

These kinds of writings and instructions most likely inspired Satanists like Michael Aquino and others who continue to carry on the darkest principles found in the occult.

The Pentagram

A pentagram is a five-pointed star drawn with five straight strokes. The word pentagram comes from the Greek word (pentagrammon) or (pentagram) which generally means "five-lined" or "five lines." It is also known as a pentacle, or pentangle. "As far back as in the days of Egyptian hieroglyphics a star pointing upwards signified 'rising upwards towards the point of origin' and formed part of such words as 'to bring up,' 'to educate,' and 'the teacher.' The inverted five-pointed star is a symbol of the infernal and used in black magic." (Cirlot, J.E. - Dictionary of Symbols p. 295)

In ancient theology, the pentagram also represented the "place" where the first pre-cosmic offspring had to be put in order for the cosmos to appear. In Greek mythology, Tartarus, or Tartaros, is a sort of deity and also a place in the underworld even lower than Hades (the place of the dead). In ancient mystery schools, Tartarus was also the "thing" which the Light and the cosmos were created from.

Tartarus is also the place where the punishment fits the crime. In Roman mythology, Tartarus is the place where sinners are sent and is a gigantic place surrounded by a flaming river and walls to prevent sinners from escaping. Various pagan and occult groups adapted the pentagram as an idol representing the 'god' or 'gods' of the universe. According to Heather Child's Christian Symbols, Ancient and Modern, the pentagram has been used as a symbol of the five senses. Also, when the letters S, A, L, V, and S are inscribed in the points, the pentagram is a symbol of health in Latin.

The Pentagram, which in Freemasonry is called the Blazing Star, is the sign of carnal knowledge, power, and the sun, (Horus, Set) and is the pentagram used by Satanists today. Wiccans and other popular forms of the occult have also adopted this upside down pentagram. They say the five points represent air, fire, water, Earth, and spirit.

Early Christians attributed the five points of a pentagram to the five wounds of Christ. It later became distorted and used by occultists, some say deliberately as profanity.

Baphomet

Baphomet is essentially the Satanic inverted pentagram symbol that is used by Satanists and occultists today. Baphomet goes back to the Knights Templar and the Crusades. Baphomet was the goat head that the Templars were "accused" of worshiping which supposedly had an inverted pentagram drawn on its forehead. It was said during the Inquisition that the Knights used Baphomet as an idol during their bizarre ceremonies.

There are of course differences of opinion as to the origin of Baphomet. To this day some scholars claim stories of Baphomet worship by the Templars was a fiction created to justify Heresy, and kill the Knights. News of their infamous arrest on Friday October 13th, 1307 has been carried on for centuries as the mythical unlucky Friday the 13th without many knowing the true origins of such ideas.

In the Satanic Bible, included in the list and definition of Infernal Names, Baphomet is defined as the Goat of Menendes that the Knights Templar worshiped. This startling revelation shows that despite continued views that Baphomet was a fiction created by the Catholic Church to justify persecuting the Order, the belief adopted by the Church of Satan and Satanists is that Baphomet was in fact, the idol the Templars used.

Baphomet is the official symbol of the Church of Satan and is printed on the Cover of the Satanic Bible. The head of a goat is drawn within an inverted pentagram with the upper two points creating the horns, the two side points forming the ears, and the bottom point forms by the beard of the goat. After a thorough examination of Satanism, Gnosticism, and Paganism; Baphomet's place in history becomes more understood, and the accusation of the Templars becomes a realistic probability. One theory as to it's origin is that the original Baphomet was created from the head of John the Baptist by adding two horns to the skull, although any evidence to such claims has likely been lost in history.

A more recent depiction shows Baphomet in the form of a human-like winged goat. This figure has enlarged breasts and a phallic serpent rising from its genital area. This image comes from Eliphas Levi's 1854 Dogme et rituel de la haute magie (Transcendental Magic). Lévi's depiction deviates dramatically from the historical description from the Inquisition, in that his interpretation added a human like body to the goat head, along with the hand gesture of the Devil's Triad (unholy trinity) using the figure's right hand. Levi's depiction closely resembles a gargoyle. One critical alteration was made in Levi's version of the goat, in that the pentagram on the forehead of the figure points upward. This is opposite of the original Baphomet, which depicted the pentagram with one point facing downward.

There are several theories as to the origin and make up of the word Baphomet. One is the belief that it is derived from the Greek words 'Baphe' and 'Metis.' The two words together would mean "Baptism of Wisdom." Dr Hugh Schonfield, one of the scholars who worked on the Dead Sea Scrolls, believed that the word "Baphomet" was created with knowledge of the Atbash substitution cipher, which substitutes the first letter of the Hebrew alphabet for the last, the second for the second last, and so on, using this system. "Baphomet" rendered in Hebrew becomes "Sophia", the Greek word meaning wisdom.

Of Levi's writings, one statement that is utterly blasphemous, is where he writes praising Satan saying, "It (Satan) is that Angel who was proud enough to believe himself God; brave enough to buy his independence at the price of eternal suffering and torture; beautiful enough to have adored himself in full divine light; strong enough to still reign in darkness amidst agony, and to have made himself a throne out of this inextinguishable pyre." (Levi, Eliphas - Historie de la Magie pages 16-17)

It is said Pike's work Morals and Dogma, often called the "Masonic Bible" is a work where he took the Cabbalistic and Luciferian doctrine of Eliphas Levi and combined them with Freemasonry. (See Freemasonry) Every time we see the symbol of the Baphomet we should be reminded of the connection between the Knights Templar, Freemasonry, and Satanism.

The Serpent

While the Bible describes the serpent as the animal that Satan took the form of to deceive Adam and Eve causing the fall of humanity, occultists and Satanists praise the serpent. These beliefs stem from the idea that the serpent brought wisdom enabling humanity to become gods. 33rd degree Mason writer Manly P. Hall explains, "The serpent is the symbol and prototype of the Universal savior, who redeems the worlds by giving creation the knowledge of itself and the realization of good and evil." (Hall, Manly P - The Secret Teachings of All Ages p. Ixxxviii) From Mormons to Freemasons, the serpent is highly valued as a savior. Snakes are said to be guardians of springs of life, immortality, and of secret spiritual treasures as written in the Book of the Dead, and other occult works.

Human Sacrifices

While rumors of human sacrifices are considered urban legends, the reality is very different. Human sacrifices to gods and deities are well documented throughout history. The Bible speaks on the subject saying in Leviticus 18:21, "Don't sacrifice your children on the altar fires to the god Molech." This very practice is simulated or practiced today by the Illuminati every summer in the form of a theatrical ceremony where an effigy of a child is burned at an altar at the feet of an idol. (See Bohemian Grove) From the Canaanites to the Aztecs, to modern day Satanic cults, human sacrifices are far too real for many to comprehend. Many children who are kidnapped each year are kidnapped by a parent or relative who thinks they have the rights to the child. But each year other children disappear without a trace. Often no clues or evidence is left. These children are the victims of Satanic child predators. Whether individually or as part of a secret organization of Satanists, human sacrifices are all too real. Even the child molester who murders their victim is a Satanist to the core, whether knowingly or not. Whether displaying a pentagram or a not, they are true Satanists and are doing the Devil's work.

Many Satanic crimes are labeled otherwise in official reports. Suicides and Satanic inspired murders are often described as regular murders or suicides, and officials involved are often afraid of the negative publicity and stigma the term Satanic implies.

21 year old Texas University student, Mark Kilroy, disappeared shortly after 2 a.m. on March 14, 1989 while out partying with friends in Matamoros, a city of 180,000 people just across the Rio Grande River from Brownsville Texas. A cult in the area had been involved in human sacrifices for about nine months and prayed to the Devil "so the police would not arrest them, so bullets would not kill them, and so they could make more money." The Associated Press reported.#

Cult leader, Adolfo Constanzo, skinned his victims alive and boiled them into a soup. More than 60 people were reported missing in and around the Mexican border town of Matamoros during 1989 alone. However, when 21-year-old Texas University student Mark Kilroy disappeared from a bar during Spring Break, it was a different story. A reward was raised by the business community in Brownsville, Texas and posters were put up all over the region, and a segment was even featured on America's Most Wanted. Cameron County Sheriff's Lieutenant George Gavito was put in charge of the case, but had little to go on, until an incident on the south side of the Rio Grande border.

U.S. and Mexican authorities had set up roadblocks in a joint drug sting when a drug runner named Serafin Hernandez Garcia approached an official. He invited the police to shoot him saying that the bullets would pass through him. The authorities found a large stash of marijuana, and took Hernandez in for questioning, along with three other of his family members and a caretaker.

Lieutenant Gavito reported, "The caretaker of the ranch was in the police station, about two in the morning. He spots a picture of Mark Kilroy on a cop's desk, and he says, 'I know that guy!' A cop says, 'Whaddya mean you know him?' 'Yeah,' he says, 'some guys brought him to the ranch, they had him in the back of a 4x4. I gave him some water and some bread for breakfast, and then the next day they killed him, and they buried him out there.'"#

In the back of the ranch in Santa Elena were numerous bodies, and body parts. Among them was Mark Kilroy. His skull was split open, his legs were cut off, his heart and spinal cord were ripped out, his genitals were missing, and his brain was gone.

Searching a tarpaper shack, police found an altar and a large copper kettle. They identified the pot as an 'nganga' used for black-magic ceremonies. In the pot they found blood, animal remains, spiders and scorpions, as well as pieces of Mark Kilroy's brain. Serafin Hernandez freely admitted participating in Kilroy's abduction and murder, along with numerous others committed over the previous two years. "It's our religion," he explained. "Our voodoo."

Furthermore, they believed the sacrifices made them immune to prosecution, hence their arrogant, and unconcerned attitude to the entire incident. Hernandez also revealed that the high priest of their "religion" was "El Padrino" (the godfather), Adolfo De Jesus Constanzo. He had taken part in the torture and killing and was regarded as a living god by his fellow Satanists.

Satanists like the Charles Manson family, Jeffery Dahmer, Ed Gein, BTK, and other serial killers, while perhaps not overtly worshipping Satan, they no doubt are disciples of the Devil. These deadly pawns show the true horrors of Satanism and human sacrifice in their ritualistic murders and unspeakably sick behaviors that followed. The Satanists who never get caught and the crimes they commit are so hard to think of, but lead one to wonder just how many ritualistic mass murdering Satanists are out there.

Knowing the chilling truth about Satanism and human sacrifices leads many to question the origin of the rituals and ceremonies within Skull and Bones, the Bohemian Club, the Freemasons, and many other Satanic organizations. With the allegations by former Republican Senator John DeCamp of murder and snuff films shot in Bohemian Grove, these practices can't be taken lightly. (See Bohemian Grove)

Resist Satanism

The Church of Satan and the Temple of Set are only token examples of the overt Satanism in the world today. Only in 20th century America could such appalling organizations actually form and maintain themselves, and be accepted as legitimate religious organizations. Satanists push the limits of the laws of freedom and take full advantage of the freedoms the United States has provided to its citizens. And we push them right back. The Resistance must not tolerate overt Satanic behavior and whenever it displays itself we must actively oppose it, and eliminate it. Satanic behavior must be matched 100 fold with the love, Truth, and power of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Satanism and its philosophies are found on bookshelves around the world and in the dark corners of history, yet many are unaware of the dangers, or don't believe they exist. We must be strong as Satan gains power over this world, for the gate which we walk through is narrow. We must resist this wide path at all costs, and we are not to be mere bystanders being trampled by the walking dead as they poison our world. Jesus said in Matthew 7:13-14, wide is the gate to destruction. Power to the Resistance!
